Dear UK Visas and Immigration,

My name is Diego Baron, I am a 2nd-year PhD student at the University of Manchester. I have been living in Manchester since September 2019. I am writing this letter to support my wife's visa application. I thought it would be helpful to write this letter to guide you through the documentation we have attached to support her application and give you a brief background of our relationship.

I am fully committed to supporting myself and my wife financially while she settles in the UK and we have added proof of it in the form of bank account statements and the monthly income I receive from my scholarship.

Relationship background

I met Gizlena ten years ago when we were just beginning our university studies. She became my girlfriend about 5 years ago and we have been together almost all the time since then. Gizlena and I have shared many great moments and in addition to this letter and the visa application, we are submitting some pictures of us, hotel reservations and the history of chats we have together.

Of special importance for us was the trip that we did throughout the UK from December 2019 to January 2020. We visited London, Manchester, Edinburgh and Liverpool. At that time, we started to think that it would make us very happy to live together in the UK during my studies because we were having a tough time in our relationship because of the distance.

Despite the hard year that we had in 2020 because of the pandemic and the impossibility to see each other, we are deeply in love and for that reason we arranged our wedding for January 2021 in Colombia.

Finally, I would like to state how important it is for me to be with Gizlena and that I am looking forward to having a great time with her for the rest of my studies and beyond.
